The name of the first yacht built by Philip Zepter Yachts speaks enough for itself. Being created as the ultimate playground for the owner she offers introduction to the lifestyle full of movement in good spirit and joyous atmosphere. The invitation to join 'joyMe starts with her elegant hull lines and unique styling of exterior with special colorful paint scheme of flowing lines, perforated textures and prints.

The interiors of 'joyMe make her a floating piece of contemporary art, with ultimate quality of build by F/LIST of Vienna. The story begins on the main deck with the first part of saloon being designed as the lounge area whose extension is the cockpit. Once you look deeper in the exteriors - you will be able to recognize her soul.

The dining room is located at the front part of the main deck, the shape and color of chairs are just another piece of carefully selected design puzzle, the shiny stainless steel surfaces reflect plenty of natural light - the same effect you fill find at glasses and ceiling light.

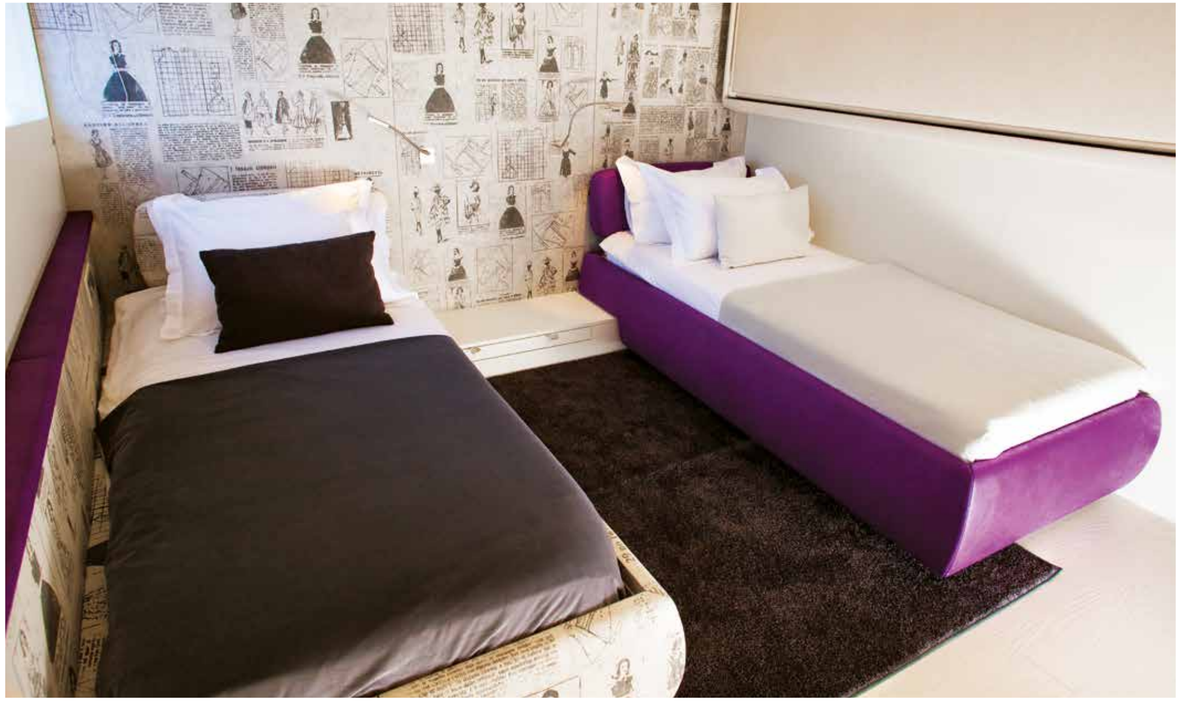

The owners apartment occupies large part of the upper deck, the sleeping area consists of two cabins and large walk-in bathroom, while private saloon enjoys the remarkable view and is joined by carefully arranged deck area. The space is highly marked by printed walls.

The guest accommodation is located at the main deck! And that is the least you will experience, walking through differently decorated cabins that will leave you breathless - discovering the true spirit of 'joyMe as such a unique yacht. The Chic themed cabin just loves red velvet.

Each cabin enjoys large bathrooms that remind on luxury homes, with every detail made with maximal attention to the different styling of the cabins. The Print theme is just another example on compatibility and the successful application of the modern design to the yacht.

Dutch artist Piet Mondrian does not need the introduction but the ‘cube’ inspired by his work on board the ‘joyMe introduces the way to enjoy his work with the ultimate comfort of the yacht.

Although she can be considered as the 'design SPA' joyMe also offers different approach to rejuvenation - the one you will not miss in the cabin inspired by Nature - just plain and simple colors and forms create inner peace and tranquility.

The large fitness area has been allocated at the stern part of lower deck, therefore it enjoys beautiful views of open stern and the sea. Once close to the sea you will enjoy the theme of this area - fish. And then you can relax in Finnish sauna and Hammam.

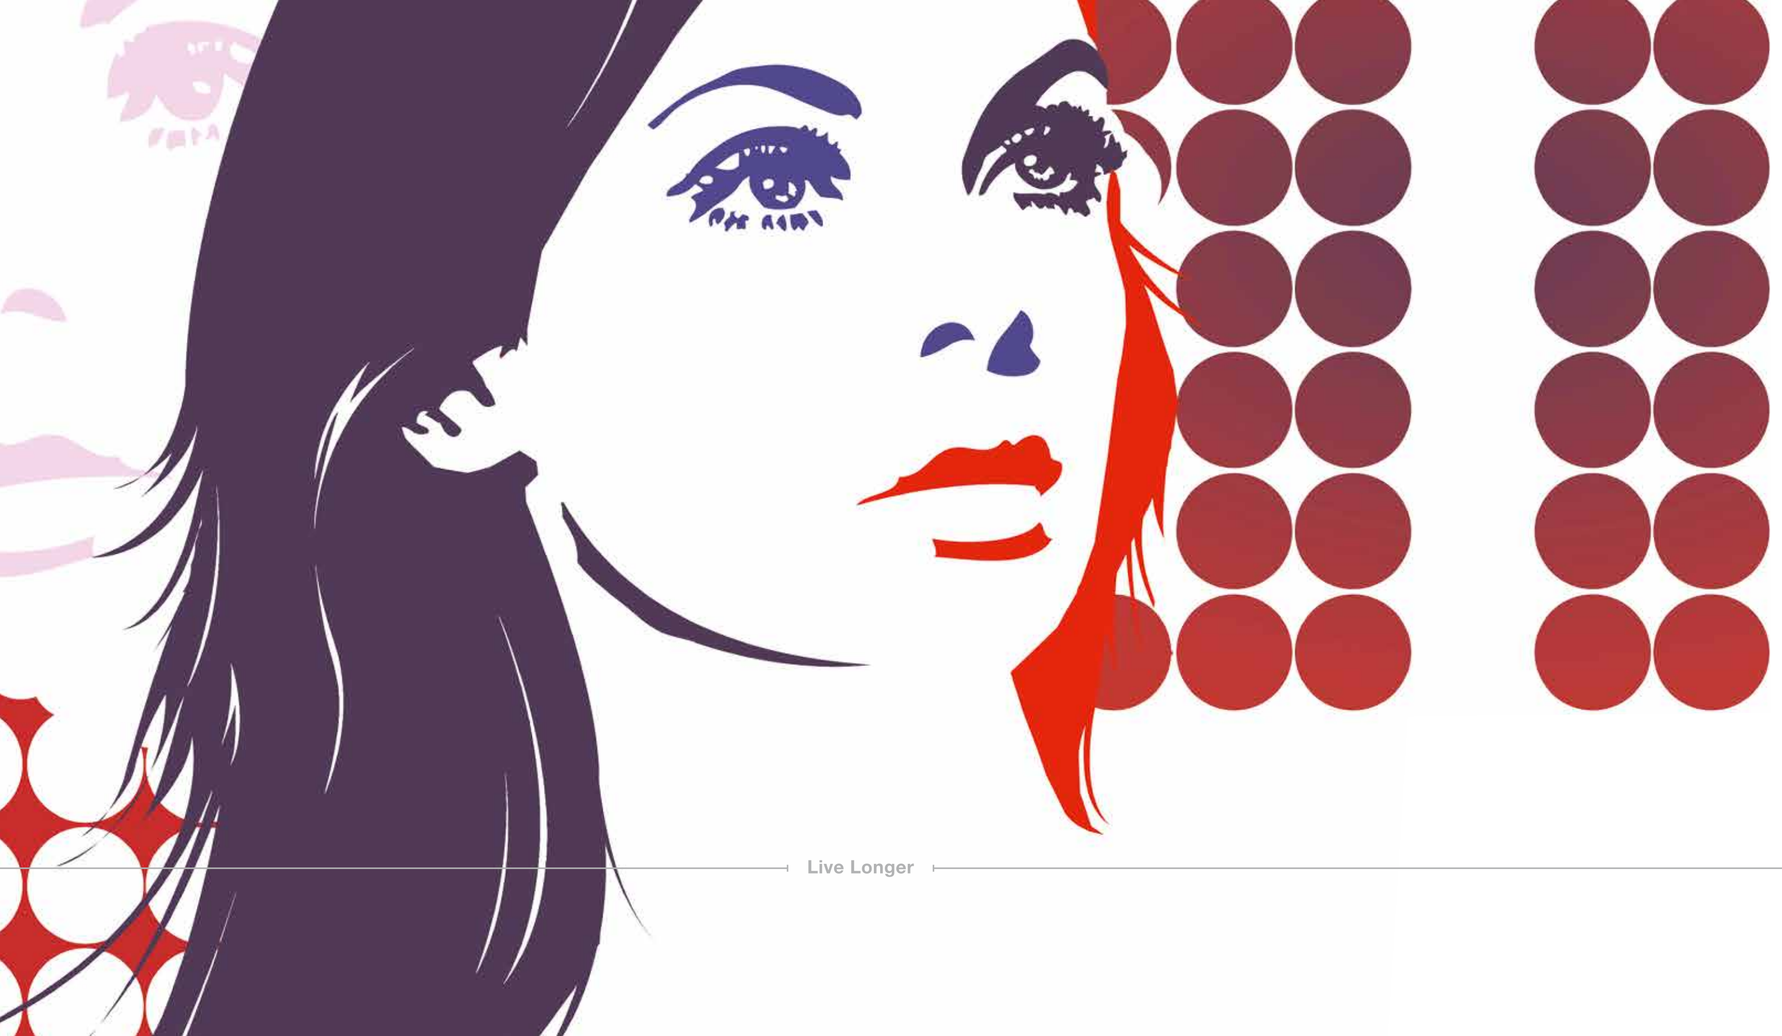

The exterior areas are easily accessible and connected by large corridors. The real ‘party part’ of the yacht has been created at the sundeck, together with 3.5 meter pool and characteristic decoration - becomes especially attractive in the evening.

Many charming places on the open air invite you - from stern cockpit to the small sun pad in the bow tip, from the pool area to Portuguese bridge seating lounge. The joyful colors and comfortable, ergonomic seating give a hard choice on where you will want to enjoy more.

The fun starts when she hits the waves, uncompromised construction and hydrodynamically optimized hull leave nothing less then pure joy of exploring the seas on board the 'joyMe.
